Subject: Your complaint with ACLU-PA

7.4.24

The American Civil Liberties Union of Pennsylvania's legal department has reviewed your complaint. Unfortunately, we are unable to offer you legal representation.

The ACLU of Pennsylvania is a privately funded non-profit organization that seeks to preserve and extend certain constitutional principles, most of which are found in the Bill of Rights. However, our office has only a small legal staff, making it difficult to accommodate every individual requesting our assistance.

We generally take only those cases in which the facts are not in dispute and, more importantly, in which there is a significant civil liberties issue. We give priority to those cases in which our participation can benefit a large class of people or lead to a change in the law. We generally only take cases against the government and government agencies.

Our decision in your case was based on these factors and should not be considered a legal judgment of the merits of your complaint.

Sincerely,
The American Civil Liberties Union of Pennsylvania
